

Calloway County Family & Consumer Sciences SEPTEMBER 2023 NEWSLETTER

Even though it is not officially fall, this week's weather sure makes us feel it may be coming.

I'm hoping the hot weather does not return! September is jam packed with events here at the Extension office, starting with the return of Cooking Through the Calendar at the beautiful new Calloway County Public Library.

Our Calloway County Homemakers have planned their Annual Day full of surprises, Kellie Steele from Five Psalms will be here to get us into the fall decorating mood, and the Modern Homesteading club will have an organizational meeting to get them started.

Calloway County Extension is a way to add some fun and learn something new. Won't you join us for some new adventures?

EVENTS

The Calloway County Homemakers invite you to participate in their Annual Day, themed “Take a Break with Nature”. We will recognize the achievements of last year and kick off the 2023-2024 Homemakers year with fun, food, and some frolicking from the Playhouse in the Park troupe. Invite a friend, bring a dish to share, and join us!

We are pleased to announce a collaboration between the Calloway County Public Library and our office to present Cooking Through the Calendar. Please join us for a fun and nutritious cooking demonstration on the 1st Tuesday of every month. Free samples and free recipes!

Kellie Steele and Kim Crouch from Five Psalms Co. will be here to inspire us with ideas to decorate our front porch or yard for fall. You will be amazed at their creativity and if you had an item you would like to incorporate in your design, bring it along for suggestions on how to use it in your decorating plan.

Have you thought about getting back to basics, learning how to be more self-sufficient, acquiring new skills that once were common but have now been forgotten? Calloway County Homemakers are pleased to announce the forming of a new Homemakers club to do just that! Join us for the first organizational meeting of our Modern Homesteading club. We need your input to help to make this a success and discover new adventures.
